Manga dios de artes marciales 62

In this world, respect is earned through martial arts. The strength of weak martial artists can be compared to tens of thousands of pounds, capable of breaking rocks, while strong ones can cut rivers and divide mountains. Some martial artists are even considered "kings" who possess all knowledge and can travel through the universe. The art of martial arts determines one's destiny, life, and death. The weak are humiliated, while the strong look down on the world. This is a world where the strong intimidate the weak. People's status is determined by their level of martial arts training. Each faction strives to be recognized as the most powerful. Only the strong have the right to survive. Even if someone belongs to the same clan or faction, if they are weak, they will be intimidated and expelled without mercy. There are 12 routes to climb the Tower of God, and legends say that these routes lead to the legendary path of immortality. However, only three types of martial arts have survived through generations: Flame, Dragon, and Star. Experts in each style seek the path of immortality. A star martial artist, almost at the end of their life journey, plans to become the greatest god with two beautiful women by their side. ¿Estás seguro de eliminar esto?
